

The W CER Brown Bag series presents:

Visual Representations of Research: Designing Posters

Is poster design
new to you too?
Do you want to improve your skills?

David Williamson Shaffer, Professor,
Department of Educational Psychology and Janet Trembley,
Graphic Designer,
Wisconsin Center for Education Research

The preparation of educational researchers typically emphasizes disseminating research through articles and books. Visual representation of research through poster presentations is another option. If you're interested in how to move from thinking about research in written form to visual form, would like ideas from a design/layout perspective and an opportunity to put it all together by reviewing a few posters, plan to join Janet and David for this engaging brown bag!
