

School of Education
Visiting Minority Scholars Lecture Series

Innovative Strategies for Working with Asian Immigrants

A Keynote Address***
by

Christine Yeh

7:00-9:00 p.m., Friday, March 9, 2007
Grainger Hall, Morgridge Auditorium, Room 1100

\ Keynote address (free and open to the public) at UW-Madison Counseling Psychology Department's 2007 Social Justice Conference, Building the "Citty upon the Hill": Working with the Modern Immigrant. Additional conference information is available at: http://www.education.wisc.edu/cp/SJC\_2007.htm*

Christine Yeh, Ph.D. is Associate Professor of Psychology in the Department of Counseling Psychology at the University of San Francisco Her research examines paradigms and methodologies for understanding cultural notions of self and addresses the influence of indigenous cultural values on mental health, coping, and healing. She is currently the Principal Investigator of a 5-year NIMH grant investigating Asian immigrant cultural adjustment and mental health in a New York City public school. She has published in the areas of ethnic identity, self, online applications of counseling/ counselor training, and coping. In 2001, she received the Early Career Award for Distinguished Contributions from the Asian American Psychological Association.

Sponsored by the School of Education and the Wisconsin Center for Education Research